One in two smokers quit smoking the traditional cigarette thanks to the use of the electronic driven. This is the conclusion of research conducted by the Centre National Institute of Health in collaboration with the Centre Smoke San Giovanni Bosco Hospital in Turin. Monitored 34 smokers, 18 men and 16 women, average age 40, who consumed about 20 cigarettes a day for at least twenty years. After four months, 50% used only a single electronic cigarette.
